

Assignment3:

I have divided my controller individual for different tasks. I have created a route for myItems tab in which a user can sign in and if user clicks on sign in page it will redirect to My items route. I have created separate routes for saving a item as /myitems/save and for updating item created two routes one for updatingFlag and another for updatingRating. I have created a separate route for deleting the item and keeping all the remaining routes same with minimal changes. I have used middleware function for logging in with first name. I have implemented all the required features for the assignment in the application. I have rectified the mistakes from the previous assignments.
